

CADARETTA, Columbia Valley
2008 Springboard

92 POINTS

“Dense and impressively concentrated Cabernet fruit is convincingly in charge here, and, while the wine lacks for nothing in the way of richness, ripeness and size, it is far from being monolithic and conveys a fine sense of layered complexity even in its relative youth. It is supple and structured with a sense of proportion that predicts real polish in time, but it demands at least five years of age before drinking and promises to be even better with ten.”
