CONNOISSEUR'S GUIDE

"Smelling of ripe melons and a suggestion of fig and drifting more towards honeyed richness than to the green side of the variety, this wine combines the pert fruit of Sauvignon Blanc with the rounder potential offered by Semillon and hits on all cylinders in the bargain. Its palatal fullness is balanced by underlying fruit energy, and its youthful acidity is part and parcel of its long finish, and, in combination, they will help the wine age for a few years."

WINE ENTHUSIAST

"Clean green-fruit flavors are well defined and highlighted with notes of grassy herbs and saline minerality."

WASHINGTON WINE REPORT

"Alluring aromas of tropical fruit, gooseberry, herbal notes, and citrus. The palate is medium bodied, tart and full of citrus flavors."

"Sadly, there aren't too many true white Bordeaux-style blends produced in the U.S. these days...This one from Cadaretta is a wonderful example of the genre..."

DAN BERGER'S VINTAGE EXPERIENCES

"Another stellar wine that you'll either love or completely misread...I've adored this crisp, angular wine for years; this may be the best yet."
